UNION STATE CONVENTION.

A Convention of the friends of impartial freedom who embrace the doctrine set forth in the platform adopted by the recent National Convention, with respect to the suppression of the rebellion, the extinction of slavery from the nation, and its prohibition in the future, met at the residence of Mr. Lincoln, at 11 o'clock, a. m., to nominate four candidates to be supported for Presidential electors and three for Judges of the Supreme Court.

SPEECH OF SENATOR SHERMAN.

His Opinion of Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Fessenden, and the Financiers.

CINCINNATI, Sunday, July 17th, 1864. Senator Sherman was addressed at the Burnett House last night. He made a speech from which the following are extracts:

I have seen a great deal of Mr. Lincoln. In my official relations with him I have had occasion to deal with him personally. I have seen him in his private life, and I have seen him in his public life. I have seen him in his private life, and I have seen him in his public life. I have seen him in his private life, and I have seen him in his public life.

Second Congressional District Union Convention.

The Union League of the Second Congressional District of the State of Minnesota, who endorse the terms of the call for the Union State Convention, are requested to meet in Delegate Convention, at Ingersoll's Hall in Saint Paul, on Tuesday, the Second day of August next, at eleven o'clock a. m., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Representative in Congress from said district. The delegates have been appointed as follows:

From Washington.

Four Whigmen An Improbable Post—Washington and its Defences—The Rebel Raid—Arlington Heights—The New Cemetery for Soldiers.

Four Whigmen, Va., July 12, 1864.

WASHINGTON IMPROBABLE.

The map I send you is accurate, only it does not give one-tenth of the forts that are now on the ground. I suppose it would be in reason to say that there are scores of them on this side of the Potomac, and a corresponding number on the opposite. Washington is right with its defences, which it would be impossible to storm. As I am writing, I hear the thunder of artillery about five miles off, as the rebels are testing the strength of Fort Stevens and Lincoln, on the North side of the Potomac. A force of 10,000 under Longstreet, is said to be in our front, but we feel no fear of the result. I need not write you any details of the invasion, nor respecting it, as you will get all long before this letter leaves Washington.

PT. WHIPPLE.

Our regiment (14th Ohio N. G.) is distributed through five forts on this line, which we occupy jointly with the same number of artillery companies. Our men are daily practiced in artillery drill, and twice a week in target practice. I have seen some beautiful firing since I have been here. If the enemy should move themselves before us, they will be cut up by our shells before they can get within two miles of us. Fort Whipple is the largest of our forts, mounting, when fully armed, about—guns of various calibre and kind.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS.

On which Fort Whipple is built, was the home of the rebel General Robert E. Lee. It is the plantation—contains about 1,200 acres, a part lying in the bottom between our forts, and the river. The house of the General, an old-fashioned, large brick building, forty-five years old, stands on the point of the hill next south of us. Arlington Place was a magnificent home, and I could only think, as I walked over it, how great the folly of the man who threw it all away for a lie like that of "State Sovereignty." The grounds are beautiful, finely laid out, richly covered with trees, partly native, partly cultivated, and in the rear of the house (front to Washington) a large park of native forest. The view from the front porch (about 60x30 feet) is magnificent. It overlooks all Washington, and the country around for miles, and down the broad river almost to Mount Vernon.

The last three years have wrought great changes. Not a fence is left on the estate, (except in the valley, where the contrabands have a farm) and the trees are being cut off, and the house left to the tender mercies of the soldiers. It is now occupied as Department Headquarters. The ground around the house is lately devoted to a

SOLDIERS' CEMETERY.

Two hundred acres are now surveying, and laid out for this purpose. The burials commenced about three weeks since, and are proceeding at the rate of about sixty per day. These are the wounded and sick from the hospitals. The present fighting will undoubtedly increase this rapidly. It is proposed to reinter here all who have been buried near

Washington since the war began—fifty or twenty thousand. The place will all be enclosed, and beautifully arranged in a short time, and be a more glorious resting place for the nation's dead than can be imagined. The site is unequalled—visible from all parts of Washington, and especially from the Capitol.

Yours, &c., W. G. W., Chaplain 14th Ohio N. G.

Insanity of Queen Victoria.

Queen Victoria, a London letter writer learns from the best authority, is so extremely insane—a complete monomaniac—over brooding over her lost Prince Albert. From morning till night he occupies her mind.

—When the Duke of Newcastle was so dangerously ill a short time ago as to be thought near the point of death, the Queen, in her private life, and in her public life, was so extremely insane—a complete monomaniac—over brooding over her lost Prince Albert. THE NEWS.

The news from Sherman indicates a last desperate and unavailing attempt of the rebels to dislodge him from his position before Atlanta. We have the authority of the last newspaper left in Atlanta that the rebels are preparing to evacuate that city, if they have not already done so.

The inhabitants are moving away with their valuables, and Sherman is untroubled with the possession of a city of empty houses. We are prepared at any hour to hear that Atlanta is in our hands. Our forces have occupied Decatur, some seven miles east of Atlanta on the Railroad to Augusta. Its occupation does not, however, as the dispatch states, cut off communication with Macon.

Averill has inflicted a severe defeat on Early's raiders, with a rebel loss of 300 killed and wounded, 200 prisoners and 4 guns. A rebel train of plunder was destroyed to prevent it falling into our hands. Altogether, they find the road to Richmond a hard one to travel.

The guerrilla war in Missouri is assuming serious proportions. See telegrams.

THE DRAFT COMMUNITION.

The supplementary draft now in progress is the last that will be made under the call for which it was ordered. Instead of successive drafts to fill deficiencies, the Provost Marshal is ordered to draft one hundred per cent additional to the number of men required and to stop there, the additional one hundred per cent being a reserve to fill deficiencies.

DISHONORABLE DISMISSAL.

The Governor yesterday received the following copy of a special order from the War Department:

Special Order No. 23.
1. The following named officers of the Second Minnesota Volunteers, having, while their comrades were in front of the enemy, applied to be mustered out, after having enlisted themselves as Veteran Volunteers, are by direction of the President, hereby dishonorably dismissed the service of the United States.

Captain C. C. Donahoe.
First Lieut. Hiram Lowell.
First Lieut. Wm. Wilson.
Second Lieut. Charles Rampe.
Second Lieut. Edward Ward.

By order of the Secretary of War,
E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

A NEW REGIMENT TO BE RAISED.

From the following telegram it will be perceived that Gen. Miller is authorized to raise an Eleventh Regiment of Minnesota Infantry:

WASHINGTON, July 21, 1864.
Governor Miller, St. Paul:

You are authorized to raise a regiment of Infantry for one year's service, to be ready by September first, or else to be consolidated. Full particulars by mail.

JAS. B. FRY,
P. M. G.

The through canvass mail bag, 500 numbers, which left New York for the West on the 8th instant, were destroyed by fire at Southfield, N. Y. Probably some St. Paul material was lost on the occasion.

The destruction of the Washington mail at Magnolia by the rebels may also furnish an explanation of the non-receipt of letters from that source also, about that time.

THE SAINT PAUL PRESS. VOLUME IV. SAINT PAUL, WEDNESDAY, JULY 23, 1864. NUMBER 170.

FROM THE SIXTH REGIMENT.

(Extract from a Private Letter.

CAMP BERRY, Helen, Ark., July 14.
The Regiment is partly broken up. Co. A being at Island No. 66, Co. E and F have gone out on an expedition up the St. Francis River. The remaining seven companies are here, busily engaged in building quarters and on guard duty. We had our first death since we left St. Paul, on July 12th—Corporal McIntosh of Co. C. Col. Crooks is President of a Court Martial, and adjutant Shaw is Judge Advocate. There is considerable sickness here, but nothing very serious. We have to expect that until we get acclimated. There does not seem to be any show of our leaving this place, as the boys are sent every day across the river to cut logs for quarters. We like this place very well, considering, and that is all. Blackberries are extremely plenty.

I saw the first cotton plantation the other day I ever beheld. Our lines ran right through it. I was on picket at the time in the center of it. The plantations here are worked by freed negroes. The men get $1 per day, and the women from $12 to $15 per month. It is very easy work, as the ground is light, but the heat is excessive. It is hot here both day and night, and we miss our delightful cool Minnesota breezes.

The 100 days men are not much thought of here. We heard some complaining the other day that they had been in service 30 days without pay or furlough yet! We laughed some at that, I tell you.

Yours, &c.,
HENRY.

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE SAYS THAT GEN. GRANT SAID TO A WELL KNOWN UNITED STATES SOLDIER.

"I am a few days ago—and that, too, while the rebel 'invader' was in the city—said: 'I am just as certain to take Richmond and crush Lee's army as the sun is to rise.' This is Grant's opinion, and he ought to know."

A REBEL CORRESPONDENT, EXULTING OVER FORRESTS DEFEAT OF STURGIS, SAYS:

"The bluffs of his single force were covered with the bodies of the enemy. How much is 'the last upon his single horn' worth, since he was cleaned out by Smith?"

REBEL ATTEMPT OF COPPERHEADS.

The Hagerstown Secech Disgruntled.

Correspondence of the New York Times.

Our reporter left on Saturday morning. He witnessed the whole rebel movement in Hagerstown. He was present at a confidential conversation between General Canby and one of the citizens. The spokesman of the council and citizens was Col. Seelye, aided by Mr. Seyler, and several others who occupy a conservative position—so conservative, indeed, that they lean a little over perpendicular on the rebel side. When the demand was made for Mr. Messers, Seelye and Seyler called upon Gen. Canby and declared their inability to raise the money to fill deficiencies. Seelye, a chief—a fierce, middle-sized man, withered, bushy whiskers—answered them in the following rather emphatic but poetical manner: "I will turn every house in town if it costs me my own life and that of all my connections." Seelye was almost equally emphatic in returning compliments with the rebel chief. He inquired if it was a thick and a free-freedom of clothing, and he inquired if the equality nor lessen his taste for plunder. The demand was for 1,600 suits of clothing, in addition $20,000, but the clothing could not be found. The rebel General was inexorable, and whether the clothing was there or not, he must have it. Finally all the clothing that could be found was gathered up—including children's shoes and many being a reserve to fill deficiencies. Inquiries are made whether the payment of $300 commutation exempts men now being drafted. It will; but only for the pending draft. It will not secure them against the next draft, when, under the recent law, no commutations will be allowed. Those who paid $300 commutation money before February last are exempt from all future drafts, but in February the law was changed so that the payment of $300 exempts only from the pending draft.

GEN. AVERILL WHIPS EARLY'S RAIDERS.

HEAVY REBEL LOSSES.

THE REBEL RAIDERS.

Averill defeated Early at Winchester. Rebel loss 500 killed, wounded and prisoners. We took 3 cannon—Rebel train overhauled and destroyed by us. Deserter's statement—Rebels losing their plunder rapidly.

The Star says a dispatch from General Hunter reports that the following has been received from General Averill:

NEAR WINCHESTER, July 20.
Breckinridge divided his force at Perryville last night, sending Early to Winchester, and taking the other division towards Millwood. I attacked and defeated Early to day, in front of Winchester, killing and wounding over 300 of his officers and men—capturing cannon, several hundred small arms, and about 500 prisoners. Gen. Lilly is seriously wounded in our hands. Col. Board of the 58th Va., is killed. The cannon and prisoners have been sent to Martinsburg. The enemy's loss in officers is heavy. Prisoners report their force to have been 10,000. The commands of Jackson and Imboden, which were present, are not included in the mentioned statement.

The Tribune's Winchester special says Averill's fight lasted three hours, in which the rebels lost Gen. Kelly, four pieces of artillery, 300 prisoners, and several hundred small arms, and about 500 killed and wounded. Our loss is not over 250 killed and wounded and none missing.

Washington, July 21.
Eighty-one rebel prisoners have been brought here from Sandy Hook, Maryland. They state they were in charge of Snicker's Gap, by a portion of our pursuing force under Crook's. A fight immediately followed, but the train guard, who had been ordered to hold the train, destroyed it by fire, and retreated, leaving the teamsters and others at the mercy of our forces.

A letter received by an officer in Washington from Sandy Hook, Maryland, states that many stragglers from retreating rebel forces come into place daily, and surrender themselves. The men are worn down by rapid marching, and many of them are barefoot and their clothes torn to tatters.

The Evening Star learns from a former citizen of Madison county, Virginia, who has for some time been sojourning in Fairfax county, that he has reliable information showing that the rebel raiders met with many mishaps in getting away with their plunder. He says that the rebel army, who is said to lean to the way himself, had his stock "confiscated" in the most approved rebel style; and that he was ordered that if he was not with them, he should be killed.

Altogether success is by no means pleasing with secession. It is rumored that they leveled on Middletown for 5,000 lbs of bacon, on Hoonsober for 1,000, and on Frederick for $300,000.

On Saturday the rebels left the vicinity of Hagerstown, and moved toward Frederick, where they doubtless joined the main force across the Potomac. On Saturday evening, and during Sunday and Monday, there was a steady stream of men and contrabands returning south, where we hope that they may gather their harvest in peace.

The secret woman, who was on board the train upon which Major Gen. Franklin was captured, and who pointed him out to the rebels, had a congratulatory interview with the enemy's force while the train was detained, and then proceeded on to Philadelphia. On arriving there she was taken into custody by a police officer, to whom her offense was related by a soldier named Cook, being related to the people being promptly responded to and the men were sent into the field at once. 1000 men under Gen. Ben Loan will soon be from Andrew county.

FORT LEAVENWORTH, July 22.
A dispatch this morning from Colonel Ford, Liberty, Mo., says the people in the country north and east of that place, joining Thornton, and that his force is increasing rapidly. Ford has his troops well in hand, but his force is too small to effect much, and reinforcements are asked.

A later dispatch from Ford states that Thornton, with 2,000 men, is marching north, probably with the intention of striking the Missouri river to prevent the rebels from crossing. Pickens and Banks are reported to have 1,000 men in southwest Missouri to cut off Ford and his reinforcements. A portion of our State militia have been called out, and the troops in this department are instructed for co-operation. General Grant is here, waiting orders.

Indians are troublesome on the West-coast of the Missouri river. The removal of the capture of Fort Larned and the Post at Walnut Creek by them.

SHERMAN.

Three Annals of the Enemy Reported with Great Naught—Our Loss Small.

WASHINGTON, July 21.
Government received dispatches from Sherman this morning announcing that the enemy assailed the Union lines three times yesterday, and were repulsed with little loss to us. Most of our troops fought behind earthworks, and hence the small loss; but the enemy, coming out of the defenses, and attacking to offer battle, became more exposed, and suffered greatly.

Yesterday's National Union states that on Monday morning, Deuster, Georgia, was occupied by our forces, thus cutting off all rebel communication with South Carolina by way of Marion. Deserter's report, however, in the confidential employment of our Government, and entirely reliable, states that the rebels have been coming into our lines since we crossed the Chattahoochee in great numbers. The Atlanta Herald says that the rebels have been coming into our lines since we crossed the Chattahoochee in great numbers.

We have well authenticated reports that the rebels have evacuated Atlanta. WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

No official announcement of the capture and occupation of Atlanta has been received at this office up to this hour. 5:30 P. M.

WASHINGTON, July 21.
[Special to Commercial.]—General Sherman telegraphs that the enemy made another advance on his lines yesterday. The Atlanta Herald says that the rebels will find nothing but empty houses and bare walls to greet them.

FROM SOUTH CAROLINA.

Fighting on Johnston's Island—Severe Repulse of the Rebels.

NEW YORK, July 22.
The Herald's Hilton Head correspondent of the 19th, says: Since my last letter there has been severe fighting on our forces on Johnston's Island under Gen. Hatch, composing a part of the recent expedition.

Gen. Saxton sent a regiment on Thursday to attack the rebel right, where a charge had been stationed. The men charged at once, and the rebels fled, but the enemy retired in great confusion. They came off with capturing the train guard, who had been ordered to hold the train, destroyed it by fire, and retreated, leaving the teamsters and others at the mercy of our forces.

A letter received by an officer in Washington from Sandy Hook, Maryland, states that many stragglers from retreating rebel forces come into place daily, and surrender themselves. The men are worn down by rapid marching, and many of them are barefoot and their clothes torn to tatters.

Change of Time for Holding Staff and Second Congressional District

The President, having, by proclamation, appointed Thursday, the 4th of August, as a day of humiliation and prayer, the 2d Congressional District Convention will be held on Tuesday, the 23d day of August, and the Union State Convention on Wednesday, the 24th day of August, at the same place and hour as originally called.

THE DRAFT.

Success of the Committee Appointed to Solicit Subscriptions to the Recruiting Fund.

The committee appointed at the meeting of citizens on Thursday night, waited on most of our citizens yesterday, to solicit subscriptions to the bonds authorized by the City Council, to raise volunteers to fill our quota. They had excellent success and are convinced that in one or two days more of united and energetic effort, we will secure enough to procure all the volunteers we need.

An informal meeting of the members of the committee was held yesterday afternoon, and reports made from the various wards.

The following was the state of the various subscription lists:

First Ward.....	$2,000
Second Ward.....	1,400
Third Ward.....	1,000
Fourth Ward.....	2,500
Fifth Ward.....	$10,000

Showing one-third the amount raised in one day.

The committee kept a list of all on whom they called, their replies, &c. The list is an amusing one, and we hope to be able to obtain it when it is complete. Those who "wouldn't give a cent" were noted down, and we hope to be able to obtain it when it is complete. Those who "wouldn't give a cent" were noted down, and we hope to be able to obtain it when it is complete.

But this class, thank heaven, are small, compared to those who patriotically opened their purses to aid in the work. Let it go on, and let everybody—every loyal man, that is—endeavor to have it succeed. It is for the interest of all to have our quota raised, and all can and will do so.

Enough has been raised to commence recruiting with, and to-day Alderman King opens a recruiting office, and will commence giving the city bounty of $150 to any one who enlists and is credited to our city. We believe the city of Saint Paul is first in the field, and will first fill her quota. Our city will probably in a few days be a grand market where volunteers and recruiting agents will meet. Many are willing to volunteer, they will find a better chance here than anywhere else.

Three Commissioners from the State have recently been dispatched to minister to the wants of our soldiers in the hospital and field, under the provisions of an act of the Legislature. Dr. Luke Miller has been doing a good work for a month past in the hospitals in the vicinity of Louisville, Nashville, &c.; but Maj. Gen. Sherman positively refuses to permit our agents to visit the 2d and 4th Regiments, and the two Minnesota battalions in his command.

We understand that Gov. Miller will submit this question to the War Department.

Dr. Butler left on yesterday for the lower Mississippi. He will repair immediately to Memphis, and after giving his best attention to the regiments engaged in the recent battles under Gen. Smith and Sturgis, he will visit the 3d and 6th Regiments at Little Rock and Helena.

Secretary Blakey has been requested to extend similar attention to our soldiers connected with the Army of the Potomac.

Police Court.—Jane Woodworth, charged a lady-like woman, was arrested, and fine $5 for drunkenness and sent to jail for a week. She said she was a stranger here.

Wm. Robinson and Samuel Ludwig were fined $5 each for beating a little colored boy, named Johnny Combs.

Bridget Devitt was fined $5 on complaint of Sam. Sargent, for using indecent and abusive language.

Charles Scheffer, State Treasurer, yesterday received $12 from Red Wing for the Sanitary Commission, amount collected at a Sunday School Celebration.

The Allotment from Hatch's Battalion up to July 1, has been received, $1216 in all.

There will be a meeting of the Ministers, Superintendents, Teachers and all friends of children this evening in the Lecture Room of the Jackson street M. E. Church, at one quarter before 8 o'clock. All who desire the outpouring of God's spirit on the heads of the people, are earnestly requested to attend.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

Owing to the largely increased and constant increasing expense of publishing our papers, we have been obliged to, and shall hereafter charge for publishing all calls for Political or Public Meetings, Society Notices, Religious Announcements, Obituary and Marriage Notices, at the following rates:

Obituary Notices (single announcement of death only) 50 cents. All other notices (when not exceeding five lines) 50 cents each. For each additional line, ten cents for the first insertion and five cents for each subsequent insertion. These reasonable charges will hardly pay the actual cost to us for the work. We have heretofore given publicity to notices of the kind at a gratuitous, but justly insisted upon, our own requirement that we shall do so no longer.

Persons paying for or sending in such notices, should bear in mind that they will not be inserted unless the price for each insertion accompanies the copy.

COMPOSITORS WANTED.
Six or seven good compositors are wanted at this office. We pay

32 1/2 cents per thousand ems, at which compositors can earn from $18 to $20 per week, according to their experience in the business—or from $1000 to $1500 per year.

Very ordinary compositors, at this figure, can earn the average salary of the most efficient and learned clerks in this city, and more than the wages of the best clerks in business houses—while a good one can earn an amount exceeding the pay of a captain in the army—or equal to the highest salaries paid for any civil, or professional service in the State.

PRINTERS' STRIKE.

Our compositors yesterday returned to their cases in accordance with a full and explicit agreement with the proprietors. From some cause unknown a portion of them again went off without notice and left us without sufficient force to get up our usual amount of matter. We must therefore, again, beg the indulgence of our readers until we can obtain our full complement of hands.

We invite the attention of compositors to the notice at the head of our columns.

THE STARKS COUNTY CONVENTION.

We have received from St. Cloud a full report of the proceedings and result of the County Convention held at that place on Saturday last, for the election of delegates to the State and County Conventions. A straight Washburne delegation was elected, consisting of the following gentlemen:

H. C. Burbank, Orlando James and T. C. McClure.

A flagitious, but unsuccessful, attempt was made by the opponents of Mr. Washburne to forestall the regular action of the Convention by meeting and organizing before the time appointed, and by packing the Convention with bogus delegates with forged credentials.

This proceeding was, however, promptly squelched—the forgery was detected and exposed—and the majority of the convention refused to recognize the bogus delegates and proceeded to an election with the above result. Our correspondent says that the bogus delegates thereupon went through the farce of electing a set of delegates—but presumes they will not have the audacity to present themselves at the district convention.

We regret that our want of compositors compels us to make this concise summary of our correspondent's interesting letter.

GEORGE W. STURGES, Esq., No. 64, North Third street, St. Louis, and E. O. Waters, Esq., Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Memphis, Tennessee, have been appointed local commissioners on behalf of Minnesota, to attend to the necessities of our sick and wounded soldiers in their respective localities.

We understand that Gov. Miller will dispatch the Commissioners to receive soldiers' notes by the 15th or 16th of September, and County Commissioners are requested to have all their tickets in the hands of the Secretary of State by the 10th day of that month.

THE DEATH.

WAR DEPARTMENT.
Major General Sherman's Office,
Washington, July 19, 1864.
His Excellency STEPHEN MILLER,
Governor of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn.

SIR: The quota of the State of Minnesota under the call of the President for 500,000 men of date July 18, 1864, is 5,561.

The quota will be divided among the different sub-districts, and the quota of each sub-district will be reduced by any excess it may now have over all call heretofore made, or increased by its deficiency on such calls, as the case may be.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JAMES B. FRY, P. M. G.

The following are the respective quotas apportioned to the First and Second Congressional Districts:

First District, 2,768
Second do, 2,793
Total quota for the State, 5,561

The National Intelligence strongly censures Gov. Seymour for his hesitancy in sending on troops under the extraordinary call of the President. It thinks that his proposition to raise the troops by draft was "practically to ignore and defeat the object of the President in making the extraordinary call."

The Intelligence sharply adds:—
If the Governor was thrummed by the law, it is certain that there is no law which forbids the acceptance of volunteers, and we have reason to believe that the military portion of the volunteers could have been procured in twenty-four hours, if the Governor had issued an appropriate summons. In a matter involving the safety of the National Capital, it seems impossible to conceive that Gov. Seymour could have allowed any political objection to stand in the way of a cheerful performance of public duty; and yet it will be obvious to all, that the manner in which he has responded to the President's extraordinary call, must subject him to the blame of practically defeating it.

The Intelligence is a "Conservative of Conservatives," and its attack upon Gov. Seymour shows very significantly how general and deep-seated is the suspicion that his heart is not in the war for the Union.

CAMP 1ST BATTALION, MINN. INF'TY.,
Near Petersburg, Va., July 15, 1864.

Correspondence of the Saint Paul Press.

I write you, not knowing whether my communication will reach you by the mail route, owing to the temporary suspension of mail facilities between Baltimore and the North; however, I hope ere this communication has been re-established. At the most our mail matter can be forwarded to Perryville and from there to its destination. In spite of rebel raiders, a short ride on the clear, cool water of the Chesapeake may prove beneficial to it, subjected as it has been to the dusty, disagreeable and gloomy cars on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

I suppose you are all surprised at the present invasion. We are not; we expected it. It is simply a diversion intended to favor Lee. They suppose Gen. Grant to be as foolish as some of his predecessors, and by making a raid into Maryland and threatening Baltimore and Washington, hope to compel him to withdraw his force from this important point, but if this be their hope, they will die in despair. Grant has got the rebelious traitor by the throat, and in his endeavor to free himself he may, as a natural consequence, kick out prominently, and upset things generally in "loyal Maryland," but his hand of steel does not relax its grasp upon the traitors' throat. A choking sensation in that locality reminds him that, like the beautiful visionary Confederacy, he is "playing out."

His eyeballs, like defeated skirmishers, fall back upon their grand reserve, "Fort Cranium." His eyes dilated and expanded resemble one of a wonder-struck child's first sight of a land organ, and as his face assumes that peculiar hue characteristic of our "ebony brethren" his kicking propensities will become beautifully less; and like Widow McKadden's pig will soon be a gone—gone, yep gone to meet his cloven-footed master, where the scolding fire of hell will wait to finish him over the remains of the defiant traitor.

Nothing very important has occurred here since my last. The impression generally is, that very few troops have been sent from the rebel army in front to Maryland. The whole movement is looked upon by military men, as a stratagem on the part of the rebels, to blind the eyes of the Union, and to draw the Union's attention to the rear, and to pack the Convention with bogus delegates with forged credentials.

This proceeding was, however, promptly squelched—the forgery was detected and exposed—and the majority of the convention refused to recognize the bogus delegates and proceeded to an election with the above result. Our correspondent says that the bogus delegates thereupon went through the farce of electing a set of delegates—but presumes they will not have the audacity to present themselves at the district convention.

We regret that our want of compositors compels us to make this concise summary of our correspondent's interesting letter.

GEORGE W. STURGES, Esq., No. 64, North Third street, St. Louis, and E. O. Waters, Esq., Superintendent Soldiers' Home, Memphis, Tennessee, have been appointed local commissioners on behalf of Minnesota, to attend to the necessities of our sick and wounded soldiers in their respective localities.

We understand that Gov. Miller will dispatch the Commissioners to receive soldiers' notes by the 15th or 16th of September, and County Commissioners are requested to have all their tickets in the hands of the Secretary of State by the 10th day of that month.

THE DEATH.
WAR DEPARTMENT.
Major General Sherman's Office,
Washington, July 19, 1864.
His Excellency STEPHEN MILLER,
Governor of Minnesota, St. Paul, Minn.

SIR: The quota of the State of Minnesota under the call of the President for 500,000 men of date July 18, 1864, is 5,561.

The quota will be divided among the different sub-districts, and the quota of each sub-district will be reduced by any excess it may now have over all call heretofore made, or increased by its deficiency on such calls, as the case may be.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JAMES B. FRY, P. M. G.

The following are the respective quotas apportioned to the First and Second Congressional Districts:

First District, 2,768
Second do, 2,793
Total quota for the State, 5,561

The National Intelligence strongly censures Gov. Seymour for his hesitancy in sending on troops under the extraordinary call of the President. It thinks that his proposition to raise the troops by draft was "practically to ignore and defeat the object of the President in making the extraordinary call."

The Intelligence sharply adds:—
If the Governor was thrummed by the law, it is certain that there is no law which forbids the acceptance of volunteers, and we have reason to believe that the military portion of the volunteers could have been procured in twenty-four hours, if the Governor had issued an appropriate summons. In a matter involving the safety of the National Capital, it seems impossible to conceive that Gov. Seymour could have allowed any political objection to stand in the way of a cheerful performance of public duty; and yet it will be obvious to all, that the manner in which he has responded to the President's extraordinary call, must subject him to the blame of practically defeating it.

The Intelligence is a "Conservative of Conservatives," and its attack upon Gov. Seymour shows very significantly how general and deep-seated is the suspicion that his heart is not in the war for the Union.

CAMP 1ST BATTALION, MINN. INF'TY.,
Near Petersburg, Va., July 15, 1864.

Correspondence of the Saint Paul Press.

I write you, not knowing whether my communication will reach you by the mail route, owing to the temporary suspension of mail facilities between Baltimore and the North; however, I hope ere this communication has been re-established. At the most our mail matter can be forwarded to Perryville and from there to its destination. In spite of rebel raiders, a short ride on the clear, cool water of the Chesapeake may prove beneficial to it, subjected as it has been to the dusty, disagreeable and gloomy cars on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

I suppose you are all surprised at the present invasion. We are not; we expected it. It is simply a diversion intended to favor Lee. They suppose Gen. Grant to be as foolish as some of his predecessors, and by making a raid into Maryland and threatening Baltimore and Washington, hope to compel him to withdraw his force from this important point, but if this be their hope, they will die in despair. Grant has got the rebelious traitor by the throat, and in his endeavor to free himself he may, as a natural consequence, kick out prominently, and upset things generally in "loyal Maryland," but his hand of steel does not relax its grasp upon the traitors' throat. A choking sensation in that locality reminds him that, like the beautiful visionary Confederacy, he is "playing out."

His eyeballs, like defeated skirmishers, fall back upon their grand reserve, "Fort Cranium." His eyes dilated and expanded resemble one of a wonder-struck child's first sight of a land organ, and as his face assumes that peculiar hue characteristic of our "ebony brethren" his kicking propensities will become beautifully less; and like Widow McKadden's pig will soon be a gone—gone, yep gone to meet his cloven-footed master, where the scolding fire of hell will wait to finish him over the remains of the defiant traitor.

Nothing very important has occurred here since my last. The impression generally is, that very few troops have been sent from the rebel army in front to Maryland. The whole movement is looked upon by military men, as a stratagem on the part of the rebels, to blind the eyes of the Union, and to draw the Union's attention to the rear, and to pack the Convention with bogus delegates with forged credentials.

This proceeding was, however, promptly squelched—the forgery was detected and exposed—and the majority of the convention refused to recognize the bogus delegates and proceeded to an election with the above result. Our correspondent says that the bogus delegates thereupon went through the farce of electing a set of delegates—but presumes they will not have the audacity to present themselves at the district convention.

COMPOSITORS WANTED.

Six or seven good compositors are wanted at this office. We pay 37 1/2 cents per thousand ems—at which compositors can earn from $18 to $20 per week, according to their experience in the business—or from $100 to $150 per year.

Very ordinary compositors, at these figures, can earn the average salary of the most eloquent and learned clergymen in this city, and more than the wages of the best clerks in business houses—while a good one can earn an amount exceeding the pay of a captain in the army—and to the highest salaries paid for any civil, or professional service in the State.

THE LAST CALL.

The war is already nearly simplified to a contest for Richmond. The rebel armies of the Southwest have been routed, and it is now a question of time when Grant is holding the rebellion by the throat with his foot on its breast, while Sherman is cutting off its limbs, and soon Alabama, Georgia, Florida, will be among the disjunct members of the dying Confederacy. All that now remains to do is to send our Generals men enough to hold and garrison the country they are conquering.

The fighting is nearly over—the work of military occupation is now the grand task which lies before our arms.

The President's call for 500,000 men has by some journals, more especially those of the Copperhead persuasion, been represented as an extravagant and unnecessary exaction upon the people of the north. The President calls for 500,000 men, but with the distinct understanding, based on all former experience, that he will not get half that number. The surplus of quotas must be subtracted from it. Troops whose terms of service are about expiring, must be deducted from it. And when the draft comes—and it is with reference to a draft the call is made—at least 50 per cent. must be deducted for various causes of exemption.

The call is not heavier than is necessary to fill our ranks up to the capacity necessary to hold the vast hostile region about to pass into our hands. Every patriot will be glad that the call is made, and that it asks for men enough to put the finishing blow to the rebellion. It is certain that the rebels can find no men to fight against their own against the armies already in the field.

Our last effort then and the final victory is won—one sacrifice more and the flag of the Union will be planted on the last acre of rebel soil reclaimed to the national authority. Without that effort and that sacrifice, all the blood and treasure that has been expended in the mighty struggle of these three years past, will have been thrown away—and all the patriotism and heroism and sufferings and sacrifices of the past will have been in vain.

A GRASSHOPPER INVASION.

Our Fort Ridgely letter, on another page, reports the appearance of a new and terrible enemy to the crops—another destructive grasshopper invasion. We go, the appearance of this army of pests was announced in the valley of Red River, where they were announced as literally eating up every "green thing." They are now making their way southward—wardly down the Minnesota valley. We presume wheat, and other small grains, are sufficiently far advanced to their progress is stayed by "head winds." What with the chinch bug in the East and the grasshoppers in the West—our farmers, we fear, will have to run a gauntlet of dangers before the harvest is completed.

The Pioneer the other day copied from the New York World the following paragraph, which the World and the Pioneer agreed in stating, was an extract from Daniel Webster's famous 7th of March speech:

"If the fanatics and abolitionists ever get the power in their hands, they will overthrow the Constitution, set the Supreme Court at defiance, change and make law to suit themselves, lay violent hands on those who differ from their opinions, and finally, through their filiality, and finally bankrupt the country and deluge it with blood."

Nothing of the kind was ever said by Webster in his 7th of March or any other since Friday. A. that it is officially known as to the occupation of the city is, that Sherman holds the fit of the enemy's entrenchments.

New York, July 25.

Tribune's special, Washington, 25th, dispatch from Atlanta, received by the Government this evening, estimates our losses on Friday, at about 3,000; that of the rebels about 6,000; about 800 dead rebels were buried in front of our left wing.

The fighting is described as having been terrible. The rebels making repeated charges with bayonets, each time being repulsed with much slaughter, and finally driven into their fortifications.

The rebels destroyed all their immense depots of provisions in Atlanta, and it is believed were retreating by the Macon road.

Our cavalry moved probably intercept their retreat long enough to enable our infantry to come up.

Two rebel Brig. Generals were killed, and two wounded. Dispatches have been received, announcing the successful result. Gen. Roscrans' cavalry expedition on the flanks of Hood's army at Atlanta. Roscrans' force left Decatur a few days since.

Recovering the Chattanooga, this column proceeded down the railroad toward Montgomery, Alabama, burning all the railroad bridges. Arriving at Montgomery, the column diverged and destroyed the railroad at different points within twenty miles South.

A column under Gen. Garrard, which left Decatur at the same time, destroyed the railroad between that place and Covington.

The large railroad bridges crossing Uchafahatchee and Yellow rivers, were burned. Both columns arrived safely at Marietta. Loss trifling.

Washington, July 25.

A Herald's special says the reports of the fight at Atlanta are regarded here as highly satisfactory, and indicative of a much more substantial victory than the mere occupation of that city would have been.

According to official accounts received since Hood assumed command of the rebel army he has lost over 12,000 men, while Sherman's losses will not exceed 3500.

Washington, July 26.

The Herald's special says: It is thought that Hood's army has become so thoroughly demoralized as to be of little benefit to the Confederacy, even should the main body succeed in making their escape.

The New Loan.

Washington, July 25.

Secretary Sherman, under authority of an act of Congress of June last, to issue an amount not exceeding two hundred millions of dollars in Treasury notes, to-day given notice that subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer of the United States, the several Assistant Treasurers and designated depositaries, and by the national banks designated as such.

These notes will be convertible at the option of the holder at maturity into 6 per cent gold bearing bonds redeemable after 5 and payable twenty years from date from August 15, 1880.

The notes will be issued in denominations of $50, $100, $1,000 and $5,000, in blank, or payable to order, as may be directed by subscribers. Subscriptions must be for $50 or some multiple of $50. Interest will be allowed to August 15th on all deposits made prior to that date, and paid by the department upon receipt of the original certificates as the notes draw interest from August 15. Persons making deposits subsequent to that date, must pay the interest accrued from date of note to date of deposit. Parties depositing 2,500 dollars and upwards for these notes at any one time, will be allowed a commission of 4 of 1 per cent which will be paid by the Treasury Department upon the receipt of a bill for the amount certified to by the officer with whom the deposit was made. No deductions for commissions must be made from the deposits.

Grant.

Fort Monroe, July 23.

The flag of truce Capt. C. W. Thomas arrived here from Aiken's Landing last night. He brought neither news or prisoners.

The Richmond Dispatch of July 21st contains the following:

PETERSBURG, July 20.

There is no change in the situation and no signs of any immediate hostility on the part of Grant. There was a heavy rain yesterday. The report of Grant's death is contradicted.

The American's Point Lookout correspondent says: During last week there were large arrivals of refugees from the South, consisting of old men, women and children of all nationalities. They say the authorities at Richmond grant free passes to all women and children and old men who wish to come North.

Some of these refugees say, when crossing the Rappahannock, they heard that Sheridan had attacked Early in the night, and captured back a large number of cattle and wagons. The fight was said to have taken place near Staunton.

Encouraging View of the Military Prospects.

General Grant has never received the defeat he has ever made his word good. There is neither humbug nor exaggeration in what he says, and he has taught the nation to confide in his ability to do whatever he undertakes. Keeping these things in mind, shall we reject the steady assurance by Grant himself that he needs but the cooperation of the nation to crush the rebellion, and that too at an early day? From different sources we have heard that he has unabated confidence, and that he knows where he is going. He knows the foundations he is surely throwing, perhaps, slowly, but undimmed. Like the skillful physician who knows perfectly the condition of his patient, he knows he is exhausting the rebels, and what when the end must be. He is

There were also on board 111 mules, 62 horses, 15 wagons, and camp equipment of Regiment—all of which, with the boat, are a total loss. The James White brought up most of the rescued, except the cavalry, who were brought up by the marine brigade boat to Memphis, by the Dina.

A Draft Explanation.

Poughkeepsie, July 26.

The following has just been received here:

WAR DEPARTMENT.

PRO. MAR. GERRARD OFFICE, Washington, July 23, 1864.

To Geo. T. Mays, Mayor of Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Sir—My dispatches in answer to your telegram of the 20th inst. should have read: "Volunteers under the present call will be credited man for man whether they enlist for one, two or three years. Where they enlist for the shorter terms, more men may be required at the expiration of their terms to equalize the amount of military service among the different States and parts of States."

I am, sir, very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Provost Marshal Gen.

Quota of New York.

ALBANY, July 26.

The quota of the State under the last call for 500,000 men, is stated at 89,318.

THE CROPS.

GROUPE COUNTY.

From the Goodhue Co. Republic, July 22nd.

THE CROPS.—The people are in midst of the harvest. Accounts from this section of the country are more and more favorable. Some apprehensions were felt from the heavy growth and the warm weather, but such strike the wheat, but it has so far escaped, and is now out of danger.

The weather is now settled and just the kind for harvesting.

SCOTT COUNTY.

From the Shokopee Argus, July 23rd.

WHEAT CROP.—From the farmers we learn that the wheat crop everywhere except on the most sandy prairies is coming in on gold style and bids fair to equal if not surpass that of last year. Truly we have great cause for rejoicing over the prospect of another bounteous harvest.

OLMSTED AND HILMORE COUNTY.

From the Rochester City Post.

A trip to Preston and back, the past week, gave us opportunities to learn from observation and from farmers themselves the prospects in the coming harvest in Fillmore and southern parts of this country.

The hay crop is light, and good husbandry will need a bountiful supply of stalks, straw and roots, to carry stock safely through the coming winter. Barley is almost white for the harvest, and oats fast changing color. The reaper is busy at work at both ends of the crop. The early crops have been materially damaged these grains, especially oats, the yield of which in many places must be light. Corn looks splendidly under the improving influences of the late showers and the hot weather so conducive to its growth. We never saw a finer crop in prospect than at present.

But the wheat crop is occasioning considerable anxiety. It is apparently looking well, with the exception of now and then a field injured by the drought, and a larger number of fields of late sown wheat which are breaking out in plague spots. We never saw a finer crop in prospect than at present.
